Proceeds benefit McClendon Center, a community-based mental health organization providing programs and services to more than 2,000 DC men and women each year.

McClendon Center prepares people recovering from serious mental illness to improve their quality of life. Our goal is to provide our clients with the skills they need to live as independently as possible. We do this by working with our clients to maintain their physical and mental well-being while at the same time helping them to obtain safe and affordable housing, employment, and financial literacy. McClendon Center also provides our clients with community and companionship.

Founded in 1980, we have a long and proud history of being among the highest-rated behavioral health providers in the District of Columbia. We provide a wide range of services and supports such as art therapy and expressive arts therapy to more than 2,000 DC men and women each year. A majority of our clients live below the DC poverty line. About 30 percent of our clients reside in shelters or are homeless. One hundred percent of our clients have a primary diagnosis of severe mental illness and at least 80 percent of our clients have at least one co-occurring medical condition such as diabetes, hepatitis C, or asthma. Above all, at McClendon Center we view and treat all of our clients as individuals not simply as diagnoses or statistics.
